Detailed Action

Drawings Objection

The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the battery (cited in claims 4, 9, 12 and 16), the plurality of blades (cited in claims 8, 11 and 19), the storage case (cited in claims 15 and 18), the battery charger (cited in claim 17) must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claims Rejection - 35 U.S.C. 102(b)

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1, 2, 5, 6, 10, 13 and 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Keesling (U.S. Patent No. 2,783,790).

Keesling shows the claimed invention. Specifically, the resilient flexible rubber guard (56) has an aperture (57) for receiving the blade (47) of a reciprocating saw. At least a portion of the guard (56) flexes with the movement of the saw blade (47) to facilitate the maintenance of contact between the blade and the guard in order to inhibit entry of particles into the housing of the saw when in use.

Claims Rejection - 35 U.S.C. 103(a)

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 3, 4, 7-9, 11, 12, and 15-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Keesling (U.S. Patent No. 2,783,790) in view of Kahle (U.S. Patent No. 6,341,425).

Keesling's apparatus as set forth shows all the claimed structure except the saw is not powered by a battery, and it lacks a battery charger and a storage case. Also, the saw has a single blade (47) rather than a plurality of blades.

Kahle shows a reciprocating saw comprising dual blades (42) and powered by a battery (36), a battery charger (34) for charging the battery, and a storage case (18) for storing purpose.

It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to modify Keesling by providing the saw with an additional blade to facilitate a more efficient cutting operation as taught by Kahle. Also, it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to power Keesling's saw by a battery and to provide Keesling with a battery charger and a storage case so that the saw is self-contained and more convenient to use, and the battery can be recharged and reused, and all the components stated above can be stored in the storage case when not in use so that it is user-friendly as taught by Kahle.

It is noted claims 3 and 7 call for the material the flexible guard (56) is made of being "ethylene propylene diene monomer".

To select a well known flexible material such as ethylene propylene diene monomer for Keesling's resilient guard (56) would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art, since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416.
